Introduction - Uniq365

What is Uniq365?

Uniq365 is a cloud-based Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) solution designed to streamline business operations for small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) in Asia. Developed by A2000 Solutions Pte Ltd, a Singapore-based company established in 1996, Uniq365 offers a comprehensive suite of tools to enhance productivity and efficiency.

The platform includes features such as full accounting capabilities, sales and purchasing modules, inventory control, tax management, multi-currency support, and integration with InvoiceNow for seamless invoicing. Additionally, Uniq365 provides a DocHub repository for document management and WhatsApp integration for improved communication.

As a cloud-based system, Uniq365 enables businesses to access their data anytime and anywhere, facilitating real-time decision-making and operational flexibility. The solution is tailored to meet the specific needs of SMEs, offering scalable and adaptable tools to support business growth and digital transformation.
